Abstract

The Norman Rockwell Donated Scrapbook Collection is a series of scrapbooks given to the Norman Rockwell Museum between 1989 and 2003. The collection includes correspondence and casual drawings from Rockwell, photographs of a young Norman Rockwell and his family, Saturday Evening Post covers and articles, as well as newspaper clippings about both the life and death of Rockwell. This scrapbook collection not only reflects the adoration and appreciation that Rockwell fans had for him, but also gives an intimate inside view into Rockwell during various times of his life. Coming from varied perspectives, the scrapbooks show the progression of Rockwell's work from the 1920's through the 1970's along with the diversity of Rockwell's models, and the topics of his works, throughout his long and prolific career.

Biographical/Historical note

Born in NYC in 1894, Norman Rockwell always wanted to be an artist. At the age of fourteen, Rockwell enrolled in art classes at the New York School of Art. In 1910, at the age of 16, he left high school to study at the National Academy of Design. He soon transferred to the Arts Student League, where he studied with Thomas Fogarty and George Bridgman. Fogarty's instruction in illustration prepared Rockwell for his first commercial commissions. From Bridgman, Rockwell learned the technical skills on which he relied throughout his long career.

Rockwell found successes early. He painted his first commission of four Christmas cards before his sixteenth birthday. While still in his teens, he was hired as art director for Boy's Life, the official publication of the Boy Scouts of America, and began a successful freelance career illustrating a variety of young people's publications.

At age twenty- one, Rockwell and his family moved to New Rochelle, New York, a community whose residents included such famous illustrators as J.C. and Frank Leyendecker and Howard Chandler Christy. There, Rockwell set up a studio with cartoonist Clyde Forsythe and produced work for such magazines as Life, Literary Digest, and Country Gentleman. In 1916, the twenty-two year old painted his first cover for the Saturday Evening Post, the magazine considered by Rockwell to be the "greatest show window in America." Over the next forty-seven years, 321 Rockwell covers appear on the cover of the Post. Also in 1916, Rockwell married Irene O'Connor, to be divorced in 1930.

Generally, the 1930s and 1940s are considered the most fruitful decades of Rockwell's career. In 1930, he married school teacher, Mary Barstow. The couple had three sons: Jarvis, Thomas, and Peter. In 1939, the family moved to Arlington, Vermont and Rockwell's work began to reflect, more consistently, small town American life.

Inspired by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's 1943 address to Congress, Rockwell painted the Four Freedoms paintings. Reproduced in four consecutive issues of the Saturday Evening Post, the pictures were accompanied by essays from contemporary writers. Entitled Freedom of Speech, Freedom to Worship, Freedom from Want, and Freedom from Fear, they proved to be enormously popular. The works toured the United States as an exhibition, jointly sponsored by the United States treasury and the Post, The sale of war bonds in conjunction with the exhibit raised more than 130 million for the war effort.

Scope and Content

The Norman Rockwell Donated Scrapbook Collection is divided into five series: David Folds, Marion Ford-Jones, Franklin Lischke, Jeanette Piper and Marie Rumpp. For handling purposes, and to maintain the integrity of the scrapbooks, each series has been individually boxed. The total size of the collection is five cubic feet.

Series I (Folds). Donated to the museum in 2003, this scrapbook contains a collection consisting primarily of photographs, along with numerous Rockwell newsclippings and ephemera. Highlights include photos of a very young Rockwell and his family, in addition to shots of Rockwell in the process of painting many of his notable works, including a studio visit from Frank Sinatra.

Series II (Jones). Donated in 1989, this scrapbook contains several Saturday Evening Post Covers dating back as early as the 1920's. Also present are many newsclippings, including ones pertaining to the notable Cathedral of the Pines Church and the book "Willie was Different." Numerous tearsheets and calendar illustrations of Rockwell images are also contained within this series.

Series III (Lischke). This scrapbook was obtained by the museum in 1992 following the death of Rockwell former model, and friend, Frank Lischke. At the heart of this scrapbook are many personal letters from Rockwell, as well as photos of these two friends and their families spending time together. Several hand-drawn postcards and humorous notes sent from Rockwell to Lischke give a unique perspective into the humorous and affable side of Rockwell's personality.

Series IV (Piper). Donated in 1989, this scrapbook contains several Saturday Evening Post Covers dating back to the 1920's through the 1950's. Assorted newsclippings, including one relating to Rockwell's advertising campaign for the Coca Cola company are present. Several ads for Rockwell figurines and memorabilia, along with tearsheets and calendar illustrations of Rockwell images comprise the bulk of the series.

Series V (Rumpp). This scrapbook contains a collection of newsclippings, ads, and Saturday Evening Post tearsheets and articles about the life and work of Norman Rockwell spanning the years 1923 to 1988. Extensive articles pertaining to Rockwell's "Four Freedoms" paintings are located in the opening pages of the series. Of additional note is a newsclipping pertaining to the original Rockwell museum.

The organizational scheme of each Series has been maintained. Where possible, the scrapbooks have been left fully intact and in their original order as given by the donor.
